Throughout our southeastern Connecticut woods and fields, there are intriguing assemblies of stone that may offer insight to centuries-old Native American history. Documentary photographer Markham Starr has captured dramatic images of these landmarks from behind the lens and features the results both in his online gallery at markhamstarrphotography.com and in ink in an upcoming book. Please join us to hear more about his discoveries on Wednesday, October 28th at 7pm for the first public meeting of our 2015-16 series.

Markham Starr is committed to preserving something of the working cultures of New England. Over the course of the past seven years, he has examined the lives of commercial fishermen and documented other diverse subjects such as life on family owned dairy farms, the end of the sardine industry in America, and traditional agricultural fairs throughout the Northeast. His work has been published in books such as “Down on the Farm: The Last Dairy Farms of North Stonington,” “Finest Kind: The Lobstermen of Corea, Maine,” “End of the Line: Closing the Last Sardine Cannery in America,” “Barns of Connecticut,” “Swab Summer: Transformation at the United States Coast Guard Academy,” and in his latest book, “In History’s Wake: The Last Trap Fishermen of Rhode Island.” His photographic work has also been featured in magazines such as LensWork, The Sun, Vermont Magazine, Rhode Island Monthly, Edible Rhody, and Yankee magazine, and the photographs from his major projects have been selected for inclusion in the permanent collections of the Library of Congress. He is currently finishing work on his twelfth book, covering the Native American stonework found in his hometown of North Stonington.

Lower Mystic Cemetery: The Case of the Flying Jeep

Late in the evening of August 31, 2014 a couple from Long Island in a 2005 Jeep was speeding down Route 1 out of Mystic headed towards Fort Hill. As they came down the hill past the fire house and approached the Lower Mystic Cemetery, they must have been going pretty fast because they veered off the road to the right, barely missed some trees and a utility pole, and then ran up a wedge-shaped boulder that acted as a launching ramp. The vehicle became airborne! It flew through the air for a distance of 95 feet, slammed off the top of the three foot granite cemetery wall and came to a stop on the driver’s side.

Both the driver and the passenger were trapped inside and had to be extricated. I do not know the extent of their injuries but it was just a lucky combination of distance and trajectory that there were no fatalities. When questioned by the police, the driver stated that he did not recall how or why the accident occurred.

Unfortunately, the tow truck that was called to remove the wreck just pulled it off the wall, thereby tearing down about 12 feet of the wall. However, fortunately, the Jeep owner’s insurance did pay to repair all damages. Repairs to the wall were so well done by Mystic Landscape Service, LLC that you would never know anything at all had disturbed the slumber of the Lower Mystic Cemetery.

Happy 250th, UBC!

"Our neighbor," the Union Baptist Church was built 1861, originally neighboring Portersville Academy on adjacent grounds to the north, until 1887 when the academy was moved to its current location. This c. 1930s photo shows the eastern & front view of the church, which is largely unchanged.

Happy Anniversary, Union Baptist Church! The “big white Church on the hill” is celebrating 250 years of service to Mystic. Among the events & projects they have undertaken, I’d like to mention two.

One is the republication of their Church history, originally written by Marilyn Comrie and Carol Kimball. It was my pleasure to support Pat Pia in her work on this book by locating many pictures in the MRHS collections.

I’d also like to call your attention to their upcoming gala on November 5 from 6 to 8 p.m. This will be held at the Mystic Aquarium and proceeds will benefit their Historic Preservation Fund.

MRHS Books Have New Home

For many years, the majority of our book collection has been shelved in the Local History Corner of the Mystic & Noank Library because we simply do not have adequate shelf space at the Downes Building. About a year ago, the MRHS Board of Trustees approved the concept of passing ownership of these books from MRHS to the MNL.

After careful review of the inventory, and the return of a few volumes to the Downes Building, a letter of agreement was sent to the Library for signature. Each party now holds a signed letter of agreement and documentation of the transfer process.

This cooperation between our two organizations is a win-win for both and we look forward to more shared projects in the future. For a community like Mystic, so focused on history, it seems like a logical idea for us to work together.

Ed. Note: The community has an opportunity to give back & continue Cpt. Elihu Spicer’s generosity and support at the library’s annual gala on October 8th this year, or during Honor Book Days each April.

Another MRHS neighbor, the Mystic-Noank Library, is shown here in the 1920s. The library was a gift to the community from Captain Elihu Spicer, whose successful ventures and partnership with Charles H. Mallory afforded them both opportunity for philanthropy. Although he died before the library's completion in 1893 and dedication in 1894, Elihu Spicer’s name is memorialized in a fireplace on the second floor, which reads: “Elihu Spicer gave this library to the people. Large was his bounty, and his soul sincere.”

Recently, on MRHS Facebook....

...There was this little chat and exchange of photos regarding Gravel Street, Mystic after the 1938 Hurricane and today. Thank you, Lyndsey P., for contributing a great snapshot!
Portersville Academy Freshened in Time for Schoolyear -
Or How to Paint a Third Story Cupola without Touching the Roof

The shingles on the roof are old & fragile and can be slippery so the contract specified that the work be done without touching the roof.

Here's how that was done....

Portersville Academy has a new sparkling coat of paint. The old paint was peeling and wearing away so we thought it best to do the work now and avoid wood damage in the future. Sherman William's “Duration” Exterior Acrylic Coating was used; it was expensive but only one coat was required which saved on application costs. The work was done by Ferraro’s Painting and Restoration, Inc. of North Haven and paid for with individual contributions, a $350 donation from the Mystic Woman’s Club, income from our endowment funds and a generous gift of $3,000 from the Charles B. Allyn Foundation, Inc.

Summer is winding down at the MRHS and everywhere else. It was a pretty busy time at the Downes Building and I'd like to thank fellow staff members Betsy Boucher and Louisa Watrous and volunteers Lou Allyn, Judy Hicks and Kit Werner for covering for me while I was on vacation.

If you're a Facebook participant I hope that you have "liked" our MRHS Facebook page. We're up to almost 950 "likes"! I've been posting a new picture just about every week so check out our page and add your comments to the discussion. ~Dorrie Hanna

Grave Searching in Lower Mystic Cemetery

Lou Allyn

Since joining the Board of the Lower Mystic Cemetery, I gathered several inventories of the gravestones there and some plot plans. Then the logical next step was to combine them so that anyone could search a database for an individual or family name and then walk to that particular plot. The details of how this was done are explained below and the results are now available on the Lower Mystic Cemetery page on MRHS’s website.

An additional benefit was the creation of a list of veterans with their locations to be used by Troop 2 Boy Scouts of America for placing flags by the graves.

Sources of information:
1. An old map of the Cemetery plots with their numbers.
2. The Charles R. Hale Collection of Connecticut Cemetery Inscriptions. It contains vital information from headstone inscriptions in over 2,000 Connecticut cemeteries that were recorded in a W.P.A. project directed by Charles R. Hale ca. 1932-5. Groton cemeteries are not online but there is a copy of Headstone Inscriptions Town of Groton Charles R. Hale Hartford CT 1932 at the Mystic Noank Library in the historic books section 974.65 H Hist. Coll. Volume 1 is #19 Lower Mystic or (Fishtown Cemetery). Page 213 in Vol 2 lists Army veterans of the Civil War, Spanish-American War and the War of 1812.
3. A graphic inventory done by Alan Brush in 1996. He drew a page for each plot with outlines of the stones and names, dates, etc. See the Mystic Noank Library LMC Inventory – 1996 under 974.65 L Hist. Coll.
4. Johanna Case and Judy Hicks did an inventory in 2014. A CD of their files is available at the Mystic Noank Library and the Mystic River Historical Society. They assigned a number to each stone which is the Case/Hicks Number in the database.
5. Find A Grave is another source of information with photographs of each stone. Go to findagrave.com and select Search for a Cemetery.

Creating the final database: To match plot numbers with the list of graves I added the Case/Hicks numbers to the Alan Brush pages for each plot number. I then walked the cemetery to verify the combined information before adding the plot numbers to the Case/Hicks inventory to create a master list.

Lou Allyn places flag holders made by Ken Buckbee in Lower Mystic Cemetery in spring 2015. Prior to Memorial Day, Boy Scout Troop 2 of Groton and Scoutmaster John Sullinger placed flags on all veterans’ graves. The LMC Association featured this photo and “Our sincere thanks to them for their efforts, which made the grounds look beautiful for this most special day of remembrance.”

Capt. John Porter died August 18, 2015. He was a long time member of MRHS and served the maximum of three terms (9 years) on our Board of Trustees. During that time he was Chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee and project leader for a major restoration to Portersville Academy and then Vice President. After that, he joined the Program and Membership Committee. John’s pleasant manner and steady organization will be greatly missed.
